This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been so effectual or desirable.

A. Hayes, M. D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

Price, One Dollar.

Buckingham's Dye

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

THANKSGIVING.

Pronunciation by the President.

Washington, Thursday, Oct. 29, '74.

By the President of the United States—A Proclamation.

We are reminded by the changing seasons, it is time to pause in our daily avocations and offer thanks to Almighty God, for the mercies and abundance of the year which is drawing to a close.

The blessings of your government continue to be vouchsafed to us; the earth has received its annual harvest of its bounties; the land that we have from the postulates of internal order is being maintained and peace with other powers has prevailed. It is fitting that, at stated periods, we should cease from our accustomed pursuits and from the turmoil of our daily lives, and give thanks to God for the blessings of the past and in the communion of kindly feelings toward each other.

Now, therefore, recognizing those considerations, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do recommend to all citizens to assemble in their respective places of worship on next, and express their thanks for the mercy and favor of Almighty God, and for the success of all political contentions, and all our just occupations, to observe such day as a day of rest, thanksgiving and prayer.

THURSDAY, THE 26TH DAY OF NOVEMBER,

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed, Done at the city of Washington on this, the 27th day of October, in the year 1874, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-ninth.

I. U. S. GRANT,

Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State.

The destination in Kansas is assuming alarming proportions. Hundreds of people without means to get away, are confronted by starvation, unless help reaches them from abroad. It is to be hoped that a general move will be made throughout the country to send relief to these suffering people. Will not the country do its best work?

The Chicago Tribune of yesterday concludes a long editorial on "The Political Outlook," as follows:

There has been no such change as should induce any Republican to believe for one moment that the party is in a minority among the people. The Republican party is really confronted by but one foe, and that is the Democratic party, with which it fought during the Civil War, with which it struggled during Andrew Johnson's reign, and which it defeated under Seymour in 1868, and Greeley in 1872. That party has tried every device, but underneath them all the Democratic party of the Working-class exists. With that party the majority of the people will have no more sympathy in 1874 than they did in 1872, or 1868, or 1864, or at any other period since the firing on Sumter. The great popular heart is as true to the Union, as incorruptible, and as devoted to the principles of the Republican party as it has ever been, and holds the Democratic party in as great detestation now as it did when a Democratic rebel army, bearing a hostile flag, threatened the integrity of the Union.

The English railway managers are about to run special cars for " ladies only," in imitation of certain Continental lines. This course is said to be a wise imitation of the too common practice among English males of offering unattended traveling ladies offensive familiarities. Still it looks like a strain on the part of provide special apartments merely for "the oldest, the plainest, and most uninteresting of the sex," as all others will prefer to sit among the men. This is at least the experience on similar French lines. There are too many women whose vanity feels flattered by an insult, and who inwardly enjoy mild temptation, while they nevertheless continue in proof against our congratulations to them.

The remainder of the editorial, concluded in the Chicago Tribune, consists, so far as its independent date, but in its prevailing tendency to a bitterness of denunciation, a malignancy of warfare against the actual government, and an occasional bad will individual politicians—that lowered its tone, detracted from its influence, and rendered it too wholly destructive in its nature.—New York Mail.

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 10.—Official returns from seventy-eight counties have been received at the office of the Secretary of State. The official count will elect Ridgway (Republican) State Treasurer above 30,000 majority, and Estes (Independent) Vice-President of "able" Instructors by about 20,000 majority. Carroll (Democrat) and Gore (Independent Reform) run very close. Outside of Cook county Gore will probably beat Carroll.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 10.—Deputy Sheriff Aler reached the city this morning, in company with Benj. Stroth and the young girl that he entreated away from home on the night of the 5th instant. Stroth was lodged in jail to await a hearing. The parties were married on the 5th inst. in Clark County. "Aler has a wife and children that he has had for a short time since. The girl has been good looking. She is the daughter of a well-to-do farmer living at Tawanda."

FROM BOODY.

BOODY, November 10, 1874.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN—Well, the election is over, and the results known to all. I hope the Independent-Reform party, having paid their money, are entirely happy,—yet I fear they are not. They were allowed to assist in the Democrats scratching their backs for them; but now that election is over and nothing more can be done by wearing the mask, the poor Independent-Reformers are allowed to stand behind the door and listen to the mad joy of "We Democrats." It is quite amusing to "outdoor," but with the "Independents" there is weeping and gnashing of teeth. Evidently all of them were not prepared to see the result of the election from their comrades' training. Some of them think they have been in the wrong company.

The old adage that "Experience is a dear school, but fools will learn in no other," was never more forcibly illustrated than in the late contest, the Grangers and Prohibitionists both furnishing bright examples. I shall have a word to say to the Prohibitionists in my next. They have my heartfelt sympathy and support, but our best friends are those who point out our faults to us.

The war-troop of the I. R. P. is the old cry of the Democratic party, "corruption and ruin." Why, it is terrible—the carcass dragged to light by these men! And then the wide-spread ruin that is holding mad riot throughout the length and breadth of our land; and the terrible consequences that are sure to follow a "third term."

To croak during dull times is bad enough; but when, during the existence of this government, was the country more prosperous? Local stringencies may and do exist, and always will while time is. But general prosperity was never so wide-spread as now, and as to the terrible consequences that are to follow the election of Grant to a third term, they are but the fancies of a dislocated brain; the danger, as yet, has never existed. But enough of politics.

Locally, we are moving. A protracted meeting is in successful operation at the chapel west of here, under the direction of Bro. Weems, of Decatur. Already some twenty five have been added to the church, most of them from among the young folks.

A little son of Jas. Taylor, not to be behind Decatur, started a bourse Saturday evening, composed of his father's stable. No damage. Niemeyer & Sauter are doing a lively business, both in the store and in the grain trade. They keep a full line of groceries, clothing, and everything pertaining to a first-class country store. They are shipping from one to six car loads of corn per week, they pay 45¢ @ 50¢.

The teachers of the vicinity, I understand, contemplate holding monthly meetings. If true, I will endeavor to post you if any good takes place.

Our teacher tells me he has a full school. He lives in Decatur. More anon,

TOM C. OLLINS.
MARA MENTIONS.

Elder John Crocker has so far recovered that he was able to be out at the Presbyterian Church Sabbath forenoon. Capt. Persinger, wife and child, returned home from their somewhat long visit to Ohio. The Captain has improved in health and weight.

Rev. W. W. Williams' family numbers one more—so we are informed by the happy father of the young lad.

It appears that the stranger who committed suicide last week at Marion was a harness maker, by the name of Barkell, who formerly worked at Sullivan, III.

Theodore Deal means that our citizens still have the comfort of leg, in the hot days of summer, and therfore with others, is building an ice house.

The new railroad was "completed" Wednesday of last week, and now the young lads are expecting a free ride to Peoria next Saturday.

Elder Bockman's donation party was at Austin's Hall last Friday evening. The proceeds were about ninety dollars in cash and goods.

The same evening the Presbyterian Social met at the residence of Hon. J. A. Rue and had a nice time.

The late elections seem to show that the two big parties in the United States are the Republic and the Democratic. Others will come in under the head of scattering.

The Carlists in Paris deny that Carlos has been on French soil. They have dispatches giving details of his movement, which report he was at Concha on Sunday, on the way to Vera. The garrison of Irun was re-inforced by 300 men Monday. Since then there has been some fighting between Republiques and Oyarzun. The Republicans are endeavoring to cut off the Carlists from their base of operations, and compel them to take refuge in France or surrender. The result of their efforts is yet unknown. Gen. Mariano Diaz is at present in command of the forces.

CITIZEN.

What a lively and dangerous leader of the minority Blaine will be in the next House! It will be easier for him to vault into the White House from the floor of the House than from the Speaker's chair.—New York Mail.

MARIE VON ELSNER.

She sailed for Europe last week a young girl who will probably return to us hereafter to receive the homage we so cheerfully accord to the most gifted singers. Her name is Marie Von Elsner. She was born in Bloomington, Ill., about seventeen years ago, her father being a German teacher of the violin, and a shiftless, improvident man. He early took advantage of her even then phenomenal voice, and forced her to sing night after night wherever and whenever there was money to be earned. In the course of his wanderings he visited Cleveland, and there his child attracted the attention of a German music teacher, a true lover of his art. The latter offered the girl the benefit of his instruction, and to provide her with a home in his family. Repeated offers were made by managers to provide Marie with means to complete her musical education abroad, but they were declined because their restriction seemed too severe to the girl's advisers. A satisfactory arrangement seems, however, to have been made, as she has gone to receive the benefit of prolonged study abroad. Miss Von Elsner's singing has been enthusiastically praised by Strakosch, Nilsson, Kellogg, and others, and those who have heard her predict for her an exceptionally brilliant career in opera.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Mr. Bobo, Portuguese Minister, to-day presented to the President his letter of recall, and expressed regret leaving the country.

It was expected the House Committee on Appropriations would hold a meeting to-day, to commence the work of preparing the regular appropriation bills in advance of the assembling of Congress, but no quorum was present.

Messrs. Garfield, Starkweather and O'Neill are now here, and Wheeler of New York and Hale of Maine will arrive to-night. A majority of the committee will undoubtedly be here this week, when estimates of the various departments will be distributed to individual members, who will proceed to prepare the bills committed to their respective charge.

The Senate Committee on Appropriations will assemble here on the 15th to 20,000 Knights Templars from all parts of the Union, who expect to attend the convocation here December 1st, and great preparations are being made to receive them.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10.—From

DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

Wednesday Evening, Nov. 11.

The DAILY REPUBLICAN will be delivered to subscribers in any part of the city, at Twenty cents per week. Local Notices will be inserted at Two cents per line for the first insertion, and five cents per line for each subsequent insertion. Rates for time advertisements will be furnished upon application at the office.

TO ADVERTISERS.

All Subscriptions to the DAILY REPUBLICAN will be collected every Saturday morning at the place where the papers are delivered, unless otherwise directed.

We would be much obliged if our subscribers would inform the editor of the particular place they desire their papers to be left.

CITY DEPARTMENT.

. Try that self-rising buckwheat flour at Imboden's.

. The weather is getting colder every day.

. Corn is selling at 35 cents on the streets.

. Peachblow potatoes at Neidermyer's.

. The sewing machine business is still lively.

. Some people complain that there are too many chicken coops on Prairie street.

. E. B. Pratt & Son have just received a carload of "superior apples."

. A heavy frost was upon the ground this morning.

. Notion stores are getting in their holiday stocks.

. A full line of apparel is offered at I. J. Durfee's Clothiers.

. The painters have a hard time at their work on days like this.

. Sand hauling from the banks south of the city, still goes on lively as ever.

. Go to Kitchen's for your tea, coffee and spices.

. Tackles and traps are being put up on their hooks preparatory to Thanksgiving.

. Neidermyer's new Hibernicon, at the opera house, to-night. Everybody is going.

. The St. James Hotel has now a runner at the depot who works in the interest of the hotel.

. Those superb Havana cigars sold by Andy Repler are immensely popular.

. A large number of people were in from the country on yesterday, and trade in the stores was lively.

. The Western Union Telegraph office here sends and receives from 30 to 40 dispatches daily.

. The proprietor of the St. James is still busy at making improvements around his hotel.

. Thrigs or four new wood yards have been started in the city to supply our people with fuel.

. About twenty-five children are now in attendance at the German Lutheran school in this city.

. Salted and pickled fish, of all varieties, at J. Ulrich & Co.'s.

. Mr. Robert Taylor, of Long Creek township, has our thanks for a half bushel of splendid apples, embracing several varieties.

. The ladies of the Reading Room Association will give a festival on Thursday evening of next week, Nov. 19th. It will doubtless be a very pleasant affair.

. Gloves for corn-husking are for sale at all the hardware stores. A large number of these gloves are sold to the farmers every Saturday.

. The ice wagons still keep going the rounds for a few Decaturites. A one-horse wagon will contain enough to supply the demand made on an ice-house.

. When is the walk near the corner of Prairie street, or Merchant street, to be repaired? Many people who pass that way are anxious to know.

. Several teachers are now employed at hauling oak lumber from Tuttle's mill, five miles east of this city, to the depot here, for shipment to points east and west.

. Martin Forstmyer has bid a large quantity of sawdust hauled to his livery stable on South Main street. He is making big preparations for storing away large quantities of ice this winter.

. Brick have been drawn for the purpose of repairing the walk in front of the St. James Hotel, better known as the Pennsylvania House. The improvement has been greatly needed for a long time.

. Several painters of this city have had steady employment furnished them, for the last three or four weeks, in Warrensburg and its vicinity. They cannot finish their work in this little hamlet for some time yet.

. The express wagon business which has been overrun during the past season is now looking a little better. Several who have followed this pursuit during the past season have now retired wealthy (?), and there has come a time when all the express men can make a subsistence.

. The new vault for containing the county records is now about ready for use. The plasterers have all finished their work, and there now remains only the whitewashing to be done, and all is finished. It's probable, however, that all things will not be fixed up in the vault for a week or two yet.

. People who buy their boots and shoes of George F. Weissels, are sure to get good material and the latest styles. He is daily receiving invoices of new goods direct from the manufacturers, which he can sell at lowest market prices. Everybody should call and examine his stock before purchasing.

. The Concord Club will give a grand opening ball, Thursday, Nov. 12th. All the members and their friends are invited to attend. Tickets are to be had at H. Mueller & Co.'s gun store, and B. Stine's clothing store.

BAPTIST FAIR AND FESTIVAL.

THE PRESENTATION.

The second night of the Baptist fair and festival was more successful even than the first evening, the hall being crowded and the various tables liberally patronized. It is needless to speak of the affair in detail, a full description of the various attractions having appeared in our issue of yesterday.

About half past nine, a little episode occurred, which was not down on the programme. Now Mr. Bonham was introduced to go upon the stage, and while there the large audience having been called to order—was made the recipient of a very handsome gold-headed cane.—The presentation speech was made by Mr. J. R. Mosser, who spoke as follows:

Mr. BONHAM: It is not often that a man of my profession is called upon to deliver an address, and more especially it is unusual for him, when he is called upon to be compelled to direct the principal portion of his remarks to one whose business it is to speak in public.

Abnormal, however, as the situation is, it has been made my pleasure to present to you, upon behalf of a number of your friends, this testimonial of their high respect for your character as a man and a citizen, as well as their admiration for you as a christian minister. I do not know who the donors are, for so quiet has the matter been kept that not even have their names been given me, but if it should turn out that your address among the politicians and sinners has been heard in Oakley, I trust that it will be paid less highly than if it came from those of your own household of faith.

In presenting you this cane I am assured that it is not the intention of the givers to intimate that your steps are in the least uncertain, nor that you are in danger of tottering in the straight and narrow path which has left the impress of your feet these many years, but rather that it is intended to be typical of their willingness to assist you in bearing the burdens of a profession whose ranks you so adorn and dignify—of their desire to make your life more pleasant than it could be without the warm sympathy of true friends. Please accept it, then, in the same spirit in which it is tendered, and may it be many years before its friendly aid is needed to help you along in your daily walks.

Mr. Bonham, who was taken entirely by surprise, responded as follows:

Mr. BONHAM: Gratitude, like grief, is never languidous, except when superficial.

Please take the plain Anglo-Saxon phrase—"I thank you," and fill it the brim with my gratitude to the unknown donors, for this beautiful gift, and for their kind feelings expressed by it.

The cane is an exceedingly handsome piece of workmanship, and bears the following inscription: "From Friends, to J. C. Bonham, 1874."

We learn that the receipts of the fair and festival will net about $500.

Select Readings.—By reference to an advertisement in to-day's paper, it will be seen that our citizens are to be favored with a rare literary treat to-morrow evening, at the lecture room of the Presbyterian Church, in the shape of a series of select prose and poetical readings by Mrs. E. M. Watt, of New York city. Mrs. Watt comes highly recommended by well-known elocutionists, as a lady of rare accomplishments in her particular line, and the press of cities which she has visited speak in the highest terms of her readings. She is a lady of high connections, having formerly been possessed of wealth, but is now thrown upon her own resources to enable her to provide means for the support and education of her children. We trust that her entertainment may be well patronized, not on account of its real merit, but as an encouragement to one who is willing to labor for the good of herself and family. Ladies who desire to lend a helping hand to one of their own sex, and all true christian people who appreciate those qualities which adorn humanity, should not fail to patronize this entertainment.

A Rare Literary Treat will be afford

ed our people next Monday night in the lecture of the celebrated traveler and writer, Bayard Taylor. It is not often that an opportunity offers to hear so distinguished a man, and it is to be hoped that the lecture room where he is to speak will be crowded to its full capacity.

The express wagon business which has been overrun during the past season is now looking a little better.

Several who have followed this pursuit

during the past season have now retired wealthy (?), and there has come a time when all the express men can make a subsistence.

The new vault for containing the county records is now about ready for use. The plasterers have all finished their work, and there now remains only the whitewashing to be done, and all is finished. It's probable, however, that all things will not be fixed up in the vault for a week or two yet.

A Rare Literary Treat will be afford

ed our people next Monday night in the lecture of the celebrated traveler and writer, Bayard Taylor. It is not often that an opportunity offers to hear so distinguished a man, and it is to be hoped that the lecture room where he is to speak will be crowded to its full capacity.

STATE OF ILLINOIS, ss

MASON COUNTY, December

Court of Common Pleas, December term, A. D. 1874.

John B. A. Head or Leander McQuary,

IN CHANCERY.

Affidavit that the residence of Leander

McQuary, defendant above named, cannot upon diligent enquiry, be ascertained, hav ing been lost in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Macon County, and hereby given to the said Leander McQuary that the complainant heretofore filed his bill of complaint in the court on the chancery side, and the summons thereon issued out of said court against said defendant, returnable at the court house in the city of Decatur, in said county, on the first Monday of December next (1874),

as is by law required.

Now, you, the said defendant, McQuary, shall appear before the court on a day of term thereof to be held at Decatur, in said county, on the

First Monday of December, A. D.

1874,

and plead answer or demur to the said com plaint, bill of complaint, the same and all other papers, and things therein and stated will be taken as confessed, and a de creet entered against you, according to the order of the court.
